Chief Matherly,

I hope you're having an excellent week. I apologize for the length of time since my last email, but I wanted to circle back and see if Iowa City PD was still interested in partnering with Ring.

We made some changes within the department but I will still be your POC if the opportunity is still there. I have a PDF of Neighbors Portal features along with case studies, referrals and examples of Press Release from other agencies to help expedite the process. Your patience and support throughout this process are greatly appreciated, as I look forward to hearing from you soon.

Neighbors by Ring

Memorandum of Understanding

This agreement is entered into this _____ day of _____, 2019 by and between Ring LLC (“Ring”) and Iowa City Police Department (“Agency”), (collectively the “parties”) and will provide Agency access to the Neighbors Portal to communicate with users of the Neighbors app (“Ring Neighbors”) and encourage community engagement as we work together to make Iowa City (“City”) neighborhoods safer.

- Neighbors by Ring app (“Neighbors App”) is a digital neighborhood watch that both law enforcement and the public may access free of charge by downloading the Neighbors App (iOS and Android).
- The Neighbors App allows users to share and comment on real time crime and safety events in their neighborhood.
- As part of the program, Agency may:
 - Utilize the critical crime and safety events that are posted in the Neighbors App by Ring Neighbors to assist in law enforcement operations and investigations; and
 - Post information relating to critical incidents and other incidents in the app to keep Ring Neighbors informed regarding issues in their neighborhoods.

With an understanding that a robust, active and engaged user community is essential to the immediate, sustained and ongoing success of the program, the parties agree to the following responsibilities:

Ring

- Make the Neighbors App available to City residents free of charge.
- Make the Neighbors Portal available to Agency free of charge, including ongoing support and training for Agency employees.

Agency

- Maintain appropriate access controls for Agency personnel to use the Neighbors Portal.

Press Release

The parties shall agree to a joint press release to be mutually approved by the parties. Neither party may use the other party’s name, logo, or likeness in any advertising or press release without prior written approval of the other party. Notwithstanding the foregoing, Ring shall be permitted to provide in-app alerts to Ring Neighbors announcing Agency’s participation in the Neighbors App.

Term

Agency’s participation in the program shall commence upon Agency’s acceptance of these program terms. Either party may terminate Agency’s participation in the program at any time by providing 30 days’ written notice to the other party; provided that in the case of material breach of this Agreement by the Agency, Ring shall only be required to provide three days’ written notice to Agency.

Privacy and Terms of Use

Ring will not provide any customer personal information, including video footage, to Agency without the prior consent of the owner or properly issued legal process that complies with federal and state law, as applicable. Agency agrees to use the Neighbors Portal only as expressly authorized by Ring and only in connection with bona fide Agency work. Ring's terms of service and privacy notice, as posted on Ring.com, shall apply to all uses of the Neighbors App and, as applicable, the Neighbors Portal.

Compensation

At no point shall either party receive compensation from each other as a result of this program.

Confidentiality

Unless otherwise required by law, the Parties shall not disclose the terms of this program or any information that is designated as confidential or that, given the nature of the information or the circumstances surrounding its disclosure, reasonably should be considered as confidential.

Good Afternoon, I am currently in Wisconsin Dells, WI. We're experiencing a heavy snow event, roughly 12 inches. My scheduled flight to Omaha has been canceled and I am unable to leave. Subsequent to Omaha, I was going to head to Sioux Falls and Iowa City but the weather has impacted all travel. I want to honor my commitment to your time, so if it works for you, can we please do a webinar during the time we were supposed to meet? Everything will be the same as I will show active camera map and live portal.

Again, I sincerely apologize for the inconvenience.

Chief,

Below is a description of the Ring Neighbors Portal with PR examples from agencies across the country. Besides taking your City Attorney through the software itself, the MOU and PDF of Ring Neighbors Portal features are the only materials that have been approved to send at this time.

*The Ring Neighbors Portal is a web-based portal that allows your agency to connect with community members, share relevant public safety notices, have conversations and quickly request and receive video valuable for proactive crime measures and investigations. You can view a heat map of all active Ring devices and even request video footage from owners of Ring devices if a crime is committed within your jurisdiction. There is no cost associated with the portal/platform.

You can view a heat map of all active Ring devices and even request video footage from owners of Ring devices if a crime is committed within your jurisdiction. There is no cost associated with the portal/platform.

I hope you're having an excellent week. I apologize for the length of time since my last email, but I wanted to circle back and see if Iowa City PD was still interested in partnering with Ring.

We made some changes within the department but I will still be your POC if the opportunity is still there. I have a PDF of Neighbors Portal features along with case studies, referrals and examples of Press Release from other agencies to help expedite the process. Your patience and support throughout this process are greatly appreciated, as I look forward to hearing from you soon.

Neighbors by Ring

Memorandum of Understanding

This agreement is entered into this _____ day of _____, 2019 by and between Ring LLC ("Ring") and Iowa City Police Department ("Agency"), (collectively the "parties") and will provide Agency access to the Neighbors Portal to communicate with users of the Neighbors app ("Ring Neighbors") and encourage community engagement as we work together to make Iowa City ("City") neighborhoods safer.

- Neighbors by Ring app ("Neighbors App") is a digital neighborhood watch that both law enforcement and the public may access free of charge by downloading the Neighbors App (iOS and Android).
- The Neighbors App allows users to share and comment on real time crime and safety events in their neighborhood.
- As part of the program, Agency may:
 - Utilize the critical crime and safety events that are posted in the Neighbors App by Ring Neighbors to assist in law enforcement operations and investigations; and
 - Post information relating to critical incidents and other incidents in the app to keep Ring Neighbors informed regarding issues in their neighborhoods.

With an understanding that a robust, active and engaged user community is essential to the immediate, sustained and ongoing success of the program, the parties agree to the following responsibilities:

Ring

- Make the Neighbors App available to City residents free of charge.
- Make the Neighbors Portal available to Agency free of charge, including ongoing support and training for Agency employees.

Agency

- Maintain appropriate access controls for Agency personnel to use the Neighbors Portal.

Press Release

The parties shall agree to a joint press release to be mutually approved by the parties. Neither party may use the other party's name, logo, or likeness in any advertising or press release without prior written approval of the other party. Notwithstanding the foregoing, Ring shall be permitted to provide in-app alerts to Ring Neighbors announcing Agency's participation in the Neighbors App.

Term

Agency's participation in the program shall commence upon Agency's acceptance of these program terms. Either party may terminate Agency's participation in the program at any time by providing 30 days' written notice to the other party; provided that in the case of material breach of this Agreement by the Agency, Ring shall only be required to provide three days' written notice to Agency.

Privacy and Terms of Use

Ring will not provide any customer personal information, including video footage, to Agency without the prior consent of the owner or properly issued legal process that complies with federal and state law, as applicable. Agency agrees to use the Neighbors Portal only as expressly authorized by Ring and only in connection with bona fide Agency work. Ring's terms of service and privacy notice, as posted on Ring.com, shall apply to all uses of the Neighbors App and, as applicable, the Neighbors Portal.

Compensation

At no point shall either party receive compensation from each other as a result of this program.

Confidentiality

Unless otherwise required by law, the Parties shall not disclose the terms of this program or any information that is designated as confidential or that, given the nature of the information or the circumstances surrounding its disclosure, reasonably should be considered as confidential. If the Agency receives a request under the Iowa Open Records Act for a document that Ring has labelled confidential Agency will provide Ring with 7 days notice prior to releasing the document to enable Ring to seek an injunction from the Court to enjoin the release of the document

 - Post information relating to critical incidents and other incidents in the app to keep Ring Neighbors informed regarding issues in their neighborhoods.

With an understanding that a robust, active and engaged user community is essential to the immediate, sustained and ongoing success of the program, the parties agree to the following responsibilities:

- Make the Neighbors App available to City residents free of charge.
- Make the Neighbors Portal available to Agency free of charge, including ongoing support and training for Agency employees.

Agency

- Maintain appropriate access controls for Agency personnel to use the Neighbors Portal.

The parties shall agree to a joint press release to be mutually approved by the parties. Neither party may use the other party's name, logo, or likeness in any advertising or press release without prior written approval of the other party. Notwithstanding the foregoing, Ring shall be permitted to provide in-app alerts to Ring Neighbors announcing Agency's participation in the Neighbors App.

Term

Agency's participation in the program shall commence upon Agency's acceptance of these program terms. Either party may terminate Agency's participation in the program at any time by providing 30 days' written notice to the other party; provided that in the case of material breach of this Agreement by the Agency, Ring shall only be required to provide three days' written notice to Agency.

Privacy and Terms of Use

Ring will not provide any customer personal information, including video footage, to Agency without the prior consent of the owner or properly issued legal process that complies with federal and state law, as applicable. Agency agrees to use the Neighbors Portal only as expressly authorized by Ring and only in connection with bona fide Agency work. Hi Rockne,

I hope your vacation is going well. As promised, below is some background info on facial recognition, its increasing penetration into our daily lives, and efforts in other cities around the country to ban it or contain the risks.

A facial recognition system (FRS) is a technology capable of identifying a person or verifying a person's identity using a photo or a still frame from a video. The details of how different FRS work vary, but in general, the identification is done by comparing facial features from a given image with faces in a database. Each face stored in the database also has attached information about that person's identity, thus finding a "matching" face leads to the person's "identification." A FRS without access to a database of "faceprints" and associated identity information is useless.

It's important to note that a "match" is always probabilistic, that is, the FRS cannot with 100% certainty confirm that two images are in fact the same face — and, for that matter, neither can humans. Instead, the FRS has a set similarity threshold that determines whether a photo is a "match." Most FRS return a list of potential matches with their associated probabilities.

It's widely acknowledged that the accuracy of facial recognition systems as a biometric technology is lower than, say, fingerprint recognition, and that it'll likely remain such. Faces are just not that unique, and factors like illumination, expression, pose and noise during face capture can significantly affect the FRS performance. The primary reason for the surge in adoption of facial recognition systems is their ability to perform mass identification — and therefore mass surveillance — without the cooperation of the subjects.

This ability is what prompted organizations like the ACLU, the Electronic Frontier Foundation, and Fight for the Future to declare facial recognition to be an unprecedented threat to our civil liberties and privacy, a technology that fundamentally changes how we exist in public spaces, and that is incompatible with a healthy democracy.

The technology's constitutionality is also questionable, but it'll likely be years before the US Supreme Court rules on the issue.

Meanwhile, federal, state, and local governments continue to quietly expand the use of facial recognition technology despite the ample evidence that it's highly inconsistent with our core values.

For instance, the City of Detroit has employed a public-private partnership program to build one of the largest, most pervasive urban surveillance networks in the US. Detroit's surveillance infrastructure includes 500+ high-definition cameras installed at "parks, schools, intersections, immigration centers, gas stations, churches, abortion clinics, hotels, apartments, fast-food restaurants, and addiction treatment centers", and is paired with real-time facial recognition software. The City of Chicago is most likely operating an even larger face recognition dragnet.

For a vivid picture of just how close we have inched towards a total surveillance society, please watch this short promotional video of a police surveillance system called 'Ekin Safe City':

<https://youtu.be/IODQHE4Z-Ug?start=94>

Ekin Safe City products became available in the U.S. in January 2018, and are being marketed to local police departments.

Perhaps nothing better illustrates the dynamics of corporate surveillance vendors driving the seemingly constant expansion of government surveillance than the Amazon Ring's "partnerships" with local police departments. Amazon is subsidizing free or discounted Ring "smart" doorbell systems to residents in an apparent effort to cover our neighborhoods in blanket surveillance, while at the same time giving the local police departments an easy way to request and access footage directly from the doorbell cameras using Ring's Neighbors app. As of today, over 200 law enforcement agencies in the US are engaged in this program. These "partnerships" go deep: Ring not only provides police departments with talking points about the program, but often secures contracts that grant it the absolute right to approve all police statements about its services.

While at the moment this growing, private, corporate-sponsored surveillance infrastructure does not include facial recognition, given Ring's marketing trajectory and ownership, and Amazon's separate attempts to pitch their facial recognition software to law enforcement and ICE, it's only a matter of time before that deficiency is remedied.

But what about the database of "faceprints"? Perhaps if we can stop our government from ever acquiring one, the technological proliferation would not be such a big deal? Unfortunately, we are a little late to that party as well.

Thanks to 26 states' "partnerships" with FRS vendors and the FBI, more than half of American adults are already part of facial recognition databases. Specifically for Iowa, if you have an Iowa driver's license or state ID card, you are in the Iowa DOT's "faceprint" database, which the police have access to.

Having "your face as your passport" might be quite convenient for the government, but it is not in the interests of the people and is fundamentally incompatible with our notion of a free society. As this realization becomes more widespread, municipalities across the country are starting to ban facial recognition.

So far, San Francisco, CA (June 6, 2019 ordinance, see page 11), Oakland, CA (June 13, 2019 ordinance, see page 7), and Somerville, MA (June 27, 2019 ordinance) have passed unconditional bans on the use of facial recognition technology. Cambridge, MA is in the process of considering a similar ban.

The local bans are a nascent movement, and, if the past is any indication of the future, in short order we'll see a counter-wave of pushback sponsored by the multitude of corporate interests and law-and-order politicians. We believe the best way to support this movement and preserve our privacy, freedom of speech, and freedom of association rights as well as the fabric of our public spaces for future generations is to make Iowa City the next city to ban facial recognition.

As San Francisco Supervisor Aaron Peskin said, "We can have security without being a security state. We can have good policing without being a police state."

We'd love to work with you to champion this cause and pass a comprehensive ban on this unprecedentedly intrusive tech. Please let me know your thoughts.

-Martha

Perhaps nothing better illustrates the dynamics of corporate surveillance vendors driving the seemingly constant expansion of government surveillance than the Amazon Ring's "partnerships" with local police departments. Amazon is subsidizing free or discounted Ring "smart" doorbell systems to residents in an apparent effort to cover our neighborhoods in blanket surveillance, while at the same time giving the local police departments an easy way to request and access footage directly from the doorbell cameras using Ring's Neighbors app. As of today, over 200 law enforcement agencies in the US are engaged in this program. These "partnerships" go deep: Ring not only provides police departments with talking points about the program, but often secures contracts that grant it the absolute right to approve all police statements about its services.

While at the moment this growing, private, corporate-sponsored surveillance infrastructure does not include facial recognition, given Ring's marketing trajectory and ownership, and Amazon's separate attempts to pitch their facial recognition software to law enforcement and ICE, it's only a matter of time before that deficiency is remedied.

But what about the database of “faceprints”? Perhaps if we can stop our government from ever acquiring one, the technological proliferation would not be such a big deal? Unfortunately, we are a little late to that party as well.

Thanks to 26 states’ “partnerships” with FRS vendors and the FBI, more than half of American adults are already part of facial recognition databases. Specifically for Iowa, if you have an Iowa driver’s license or state ID card, you are in the Iowa DOT’s “faceprint” database, which the police have access to.

Having “your face as your passport” might be quite convenient for the government, but it is not in the interests of the people and is fundamentally incompatible with our notion of a free society. As this realization becomes more widespread, municipalities across the country are starting to ban facial recognition.

So far, San Francisco, CA (June 6, 2019 ordinance, see page 11), Oakland, CA (June 13, 2019 ordinance, see page 7), and Somerville, MA (June 27, 2019 ordinance) have passed unconditional bans on the use of facial recognition technology. Cambridge, MA is in the process of considering a similar ban.

The local bans are a nascent movement, and, if the past is any indication of the future, in short order we’ll see a counter-wave of pushback sponsored by the multitude of corporate interests and law-and-order politicians. We believe the best way to support this movement and preserve our privacy, freedom of speech, and freedom of association rights as well as the fabric of our public spaces for future generations is to make Iowa City the next city to ban facial recognition.

As San Francisco Supervisor Aaron Peskin said, “We can have security without being a security state. We can have good policing without being a police state.”

We’d love to work with you to champion this cause and pass a comprehensive ban on this unprecedentedly intrusive tech. Please let me know your thoughts.

Rockne,

The PD does not use any facial recognition technology and has no plans to in the future. We are in the design stages of a public camera system for the Ped Mall. That system will not include any facial recognition capabilities. It is simply for post-incident investigation purposes.

I have not heard discussion on any Iowa cities either using or banning this technology.

Geoff, and Eleanor,

Two Iowa City residents approached me with concerns about facial recognition technology. Could you update me about any pending facial recognition technology if any within City? Do we currently utilize on ped mall or anywhere else?

Eleanor, two residents contacted me about a notice requirement for any private business using facial recognition technology. Are you aware of any home rule issues associated with regulation of facial recognition technology? Are you aware of any other Iowa cities that have taken on this issue?

I understand that it is a very complicated topic. No urgent rush on this. If I could get something in a couple of weeks or so that would be greatly appreciated.

Hi Rockne,

I hope your vacation is going well. As promised, below is some background info on facial recognition, its increasing penetration into our daily lives, and efforts in other cities around the country to ban it or contain the risks.

A facial recognition system (FRS) is a technology capable of identifying a person or verifying a person's identity using a photo or a still frame from a video. The details of how different FRS work vary, but in general, the identification is done by comparing facial features from a given image with faces in a database. Each face stored in the database also has attached information about that person's identity, thus finding a "matching" face leads to the person's "identification." A FRS without access to a database of "faceprints" and associated identity information is useless.

It's important to note that a "match" is always probabilistic, that is, the FRS cannot with 100% certainty confirm that two images are in fact the same face — and, for that matter, neither can humans. Instead, the FRS has a set similarity threshold that determines whether a photo is a "match." Most FRS return a list of potential matches with their associated probabilities.

It's widely acknowledged that the accuracy of facial recognition systems as a biometric technology is lower than, say, fingerprint recognition, and that it'll likely remain such. Faces are just not that unique, and factors like illumination, expression, pose and noise during face capture can significantly affect the FRS performance. The primary reason for the surge in adoption of facial recognition systems is their ability to perform mass identification — and therefore mass surveillance — without the cooperation of the subjects.

This ability is what prompted organizations like the ACLU, the Electronic Frontier Foundation, and Fight for the Future to declare facial recognition to be an unprecedented threat to our civil liberties and privacy, a technology that fundamentally changes how we exist in public spaces, and that is incompatible with a healthy democracy.

The technology's constitutionality is also questionable, but it'll likely be years before the US Supreme Court rules on the issue.

Meanwhile, federal, state, and local governments continue to quietly expand the use of facial recognition technology despite the ample evidence that it's highly inconsistent with our core values.

For instance, the City of Detroit has employed a public-private partnership program to build one of the largest, most pervasive urban surveillance networks in the US. Detroit's surveillance infrastructure includes 500+ high-definition cameras installed at "parks, schools, intersections, immigration centers, gas stations, churches, abortion clinics, hotels, apartments, fast-food restaurants, and addiction treatment centers", and is paired with real-time facial recognition software. The City of Chicago is most likely operating an even larger face recognition dragnet.

For a vivid picture of just how close we have inched towards a total surveillance society, please watch this short promotional video of a police surveillance system called 'Ekin Safe City':

<https://youtu.be/IODQHE4Z-Ug?start=94>

Ekin Safe City products became available in the U.S. in January 2018, and are being marketed to local police departments.

Perhaps nothing better illustrates the dynamics of corporate surveillance vendors driving the seemingly constant expansion of government surveillance than the Amazon Ring's "partnerships" with local police departments. Amazon is subsidizing free or discounted Ring "smart" doorbell systems to residents in an apparent effort to cover our neighborhoods in blanket surveillance, while at the same time giving the local police departments an easy way to request and access footage directly from the doorbell cameras using Ring's Neighbors app. As of today, over 200 law enforcement agencies in the US are engaged in this program. Subject: PERF Daily Clips: More than 400 police forces working with Ring to view doorbell cam footage

Thursday, August 29, 2019

National News

USA Today: More than 400 police forces working with Ring to view doorbell cam footage

More than 405 police forces nationwide have joined video-sharing partnerships with the doorbell-camera company Ring, giving officers potential access to camera footage taken at front doors of private homes in numerous neighborhoods.

The doorbell-camera devices can stream real-time video to a user's smartphone, tablet or desktop, allowing homeowners to see and talk to people on their doorsteps.

The impact is enhanced if an owner chooses to join Neighbors, an app developed by Ring that shares information among nearby residents, including the locations of their video or written posts.

Using the Neighbors app system, homeowners in a micro-targeted area can opt to share real-time crime and safety alerts, including text updates, photos and videos taken on any device, not just Ring's.

Under the agreements with police, law enforcement can monitor this publicly shared information and videos. Police, through Ring, can then request a specific video from a homeowner's cameras.

Privacy advocates are appalled.

Byers & Co., WSOY Decatur (IL): Audio: Interview with Howard G. Buffett and Chuck Wexler of Police Executive Research Forum on developing a plan for police to defuse "suicide by cop" situations

Chuck Wexler and Howard G. Buffett spoke with the Byers & Co. morning radio program in Decatur, Illinois, about the work they're doing to improve the police response to "suicide by cop" incidents. PERF brought police officials from across the country to the Macon County Law Enforcement Training Center to develop the first national guidance for officers about how to de-escalate and save lives in these challenging situations involving persons with mental illness.

Local News

Associated Press: With sex crimes, NYPD moves to 'victim-centered' approach

Two of the most concrete changes to the New York Police Department's evolving approach to sex crimes sit some 20 feet apart, flanking the lobby of a century-old Bronx police station that was known in the neighborhood's more turbulent years as "Fort Apache."

The first is a new waiting room, furnished with couches, children's toys and a radio playing soothing music. It's designed to give victims of sexual violence a momentary oasis, away from the building's usual hustle and bustle, before they meet with investigators.

The second is a private interview room where detectives from the department's revamped Special Victims Division can meet one-on-one with victims, giving them more privacy than where they often used to meet: the detective's desk in the middle of a noisy squad room.

The physical changes, along with a beefed up and retrained staff and a shift this week in how rape statistics are reported to the public, are part of the police department's embrace of what Harrison calls a "victim-centered" approach on sex crimes.

Austin American-Statesman: All Austin cops to get specialized training for mental health calls, chief says

All Austin police officers will receive additional training for mental health calls over the next couple of years, after city audits and a commission recommended that doing so could improve the outcomes of these difficult calls.

Currently, all officers receive 40 hours of training to help them work with people who are having mental health crises, and specialized mental health officers receive an additional 40 hours of training. Austin Police Chief Brian Manley announced Tuesday that all current and future officers will undergo that additional specialized training.

San Jose Mercury News: BART police hiring up, overtime down, as department tackles rising crime

Staffing levels at the BART Police Department are some of the highest they've been in years, with 40 new officers hired since January, as the agency combats rising crime, BART officials said Wednesday.

BART began aggressively hiring new officers in the summer of 2017 with $15,000 hiring bonuses but only netted 16 new officers that year. The following year, it hired 24 officers, BART said.

It wasn't until December, when the agency's Board of Directors approved a new contract for BART's police union — complete with a one-time 6 percent pay increase, followed by a 10 percent cost-of-living raise that's spread out over three years — that hiring really picked up, Interim BART police Chief Ed Alvarez said in a statement Wednesday.

Lexington Herald-Leader: 'It's ruining everybody we know.' One Kentucky town's battle with meth's resurgence.

As the death toll of the opioid crisis in Kentucky has ballooned to unprecedented heights in recent years, killing thousands and marking Appalachia as ground zero for the epidemic, a quieter crisis has emerged outside the limelight: meth. People here say meth, which is cheap and addictive, is more prevalent than opioids but gets far less attention.

Cleveland.com Gov. Mike DeWine seeks to fix holes in Ohio's gun background-check system

Gov. Mike DeWine on Wednesday announced plans to strengthen background checks for gun purchases by working to digitize and require notifications of warrants and protection orders to be entered into state and national databases.

The initiative, part of which will require legislative approval, is the latest gun-reform measure proposed by DeWine, a Greene County Republican, in recent weeks following a mass shooting in Dayton on Aug. 4.

Of the 500,000 or so warrants that were open in Ohio as of March, only about 217,000 of them were in Ohio's law-enforcement database system, and only about 18,000 were in the federal background-check system, according to data collected by an administration task force. That's in part because Ohio doesn't require local law-enforcement to report warrants to the databases, nor does it mandate that local courts report civil protection orders. Both of those prohibit people from buying firearms while they're in effect.

International News

Ottawa Citizen: Q&A: Peter Sloly, Ottawa's next police chief, on why he became a cop and what his priorities will be

Peter Sloly, Ottawa's next police chief has yet to be sworn in as an Ottawa police officer and isn't expected to take the helm of the force until at least October. But one day after he was announced as the city's next top cop, he answered questions about his policing career, leadership style and what he knows he wants to do in Ottawa.

Police Executive Appointments

Bethesda (MD) Magazine: Elrich to nominate Darryl McSwain as next Montgomery police chief

County Executive Marc Elrich will nominate Darryl McSwain, who is retired from Montgomery County police, as the department's next chief, according to multiple County Council sources.

McSwain is currently the chief of the Maryland-National Capital Park Police, Montgomery County Division.

Boulder (CO) Daily Camera: Boulder Police chief honored by council ahead of retirement

Boulder Police Chief Greg Testa on Tuesday was honored ahead of his retirement by a city council declaration read by Mayor Suzanne Jones.

Testa's last day as head of Boulder Police Department was Tuesday after serving as chief since 2014. He joined the department in 1987, rising through the ranks through service as a detective, sergeant, commander and deputy chief before assuming the top position.

East Bay Times (CA): Concord Police Chief to soon retire, after almost a decade on the job

After nine years in the job, Concord's Police Chief, Guy Swanger, will soon retire.

Swanger made the announcement at Tuesday evening's City Council meeting, where he also delivered a report about some of the city's crime statistics for the first half of the year.

The reason, Swanger said, is that he's simply "ready to go." And added that the city's police force is in "a good place" for him to leave it.

He didn't give an exact retirement date, noting that he'll wait until the city finds his replacement to step down.

Open to children ages 5-14, the department will be offering cuts and ponytails on Wednesday from noon to 3 p.m. at the precinct, located at 11450 Warwick in Detroit.
